

Life on a farm in the 1940s meant hard work, and for the Zellers, it also meant turmoil, as my father's harsh rule had a profound effect on my brother, my sister and me. Then our wonderful mother fell victim to a mysterious illness. Years later, happily married and living a new life, I made surprising discoveries that revealed answers about my mother's tragedy and my father's obsession for his farm. This true story encompasses love, hate, happiness, sorrow, romance, humor, faith and hope. It is about the essence of families, understanding the past – and learning to forgive.

I was raised in upstate New York, where I began my career in finance. I married the girl of my dreams and we have two children. My wife, Katie, and I sailed our Columbia 8.7 for many years and we continue to pursue our dreams together.
